

Letter from the Chair

David Cheek | davidcheekst@gmail.com

After a busy winter working on various initiatives associated with our mission of land conservation and historic preservation 'in 'Sconset, the board of the 'Sconset Trust enters summer with excitement about our activities and planned events. The dedicated service of our board members, officers, committee chairs, volunteers, and Executive Director, Bob Felch, is much appreciated.

Please continue your support of the Trust with your annual gift. Also, we hope that you plan to attend our gala event "A Night under the Light II," on July 17. We are most grateful to our members for your loyal support and commitment to our mission and we look forward to seeing you in 'Sconset this summer.

The Trust continues to make good progress on its priorities for land conservation on the 120-acre Coffin property on Milestone Road and the 190-acre LORAN Station on Low Beach Road, owned by the U.S. Coast Guard. In addition, we accomplished our first Conservation Restriction which is described herein. Preservation events and activities continue our efforts to raise awareness and support. A major goal this year is to focus on preservation of the commercial properties in the Village.

We have received a good response so far to the recent mailing to all members seeking renewal of membership for 2011 through annual gifts.

'Sconset Trust Mission Statement

The Trust's mission is to protect the unique character of 'Sconset Village through conservation and preservation of areas of open land and structures of historic and/or architectural significance in and around the village.

Mathey Conservation Easement

The 'Sconset Trust congratulates the Mathey Family for successfully completing a conservation easement (called a conservation restriction in the state of Massachusetts) on their property on Sankaty Road in December 2010. The 'Sconset Trust is the holder of the easement and worked with Lynn Zimmerman, an island expert and conservation consultant, to achieve this milestone. This is the first conservation easement approved by the State and Nantucket Board of Selectmen within the village of 'Sconset .

This property, which including the historic home (dating back to 1904), beautiful gardens and open land, has long been admired. Now the property will remain protected in perpetuity. The Mathey land constituted three buildable lots prior to approval of the easement but now is one lot with no additional structures permitted. We thank the Matheys for their extraordinary gift to the village. Please feel free to contact the 'Sconset Trust office with interest or questions about conservation or preservation easements.

Land Report

The Trust has been actively seeking a potential acquisition of the 120-acre Coffin property, and we are encouraged by the progress that has been made working in close collaboration with other stakeholders—Nantucket Island Land Bank, Nantucket Conservation Foundation, and Nantucket Golf Club. While it is uncertain that a transaction will be accomplished with the seller, our intent is to lead the efforts of the land groups to acquire the property for conservation and to invest in the transaction. We plan to keep the membership informed about the transaction as it plays out further this season.

The Trust also continues to closely monitor the status of the decommissioned LORAN Station. We are talking directly with the Coast Guard, Town officials, our congressional representatives and the other land conservation groups while we wait for the Coast Guard to evaluate what it plans to do with the property. We will keep you updated on its status.

The Land Committee is also reviewing other properties for acquisition. We encourage our members to identify opportunities for us to conserve open space. It is noteworthy that 10 of the 15 properties owned by the Trust were donated by members. We hope that our members will consider donating open land to the Trust, as well as talking to us about any plans to sell land.

Erosion Management at Sankaty Head

When the 'Sconset Trust contracted with the U.S. Coast Guard in 2007 to take ownership of Sankaty Head Lighthouse, we committed to protect and preserve that iconic structure by moving it from harm's way and restoring the building.

As custodians and stewards of this historic property, the Trust feels a strong sense of responsibility to ensure that the lighthouse and its sensitively landscaped grounds survive as a landmark and beloved destination for future generations. While the Lighthouse's move inland has shielded it from imminent danger, coastal erosion continues to be a significant threat to the land on which it sits. If this is not successfully addressed, the Trust's most visible asset will once again stand in peril.

The 'Sconset Trust does not have technical expertise regarding beach erosion, but recognizes the Siasconset Beach Preservation Fund's (SBPF) efforts to monitor erosion on the island, evaluate various mitigation options, and work with the town to develop a comprehensive plan for addressing coastal erosion. Throughout the winter of 2011, the Mission Committee and, subsequently, the Board of Directors have considered ways in which the Trust could advance the island wide dialogue concerning erosion management.

At its May meeting, the Board agreed that having detailed and scientific data concerning the process of bluff erosion was integral to being steward of the Lighthouse property.

Because SBPF has already engaged consultants to monitor erosion, the Trust proposes to partner in their endeavor and, as other landowners on the bluff have done, join in paying for this expertise. The Board voted to budget $25,000 to be used to fund ongoing erosion monitoring efforts. We will be doing this independently of SBPF but serving to defray costs their supporters would otherwise have born.

As one board member remarked, everybody on the island should be concerned about erosion. We at the Trust just happen to have a very visible reminder of why our concern is immediate and compelling.

Mckenna-Foster is the Director of Natural Science Education and Programs at the Maria Mitchell Association. For the last six years he has led nature walks and designed programming for the Maria Mitchell Natural Science Museum. Andrew's interests broadly cover the natural history and geology of Nantucket, but his research focuses on the biodiversity of Nantucket spiders, beetles, earthworms and snakes. This summer we are adding another walk surrounding the diverse flora of 'Sconset, as well as a special tour focusing on daylight astronomy.

Preservation Report

May 2011: Preservation Month with 'Sconset Architectural Tours

In honor of Preservation Month, the 'Sconset Trust held its annual Historic House Tour on Sunday, May 8th. Over one hundred participants were treated to three architecturally significant homes, as well as to Sankaty Head Lighthouse. Robert Cochran's twelve-bedroom "Ocean View House," built by Charles Robinson in the 1870's, was open. Formerly a hotel, Cochran's home houses his amazing Nantucket collections of art, maps, and books. Mary and George Williams' gothic revival home, named "Wild Goose," was on the tour. The Williams' home was also built by Robinson and now highlights Mary's handmade baskets and sailor's valentines. "Fo'Castle," an Underhill cottage owned by Jane Hathaway, was an added treat. It remains in an amazing state of preservation.

We thank the homeowners for graciously opening their homes, and for Mary Williams and Lisa Soeder for surprising us with baked cookies. We would also like to thank the volunteers who helped guide people through the houses – see page 10 in this newsletter

I thank the members of the Preservation Committee for their commitment to our mission: David Bentley, Caroline Ellis, Greg Garland, Diane Kelly, Jeff Lockhart, Kate O'Reilly, Georgia Raysman, Alix St. Clair and Emma Ward.

This newsletter is chockablock full of information about 'Sconset Trust activities and events for 2011. As always I direct your attention to our mission which includes a key role of educating island residents and visitors to 'Sconset about the importance of conservation and preservation principals.

The 'Sconset Trust holds 15 parcels of open land amounting to roughly 85 acres. We hold two historic preservation easements – one for the Siasconset Union Chapel and the other for the Atlantic House on Main Street, owned by the Fremont-Smith family. As you will read in this newsletter we now hold our first conservation easement on the Mathey property. Of course, don't forget our ownership of Sankaty Head Lighthouse and this 12.5 acre bluff-edge property. Our educational goals are to keep you informed about how you can help the Trust conserve more open land, preserve historic dwelling and public/commercial buildings and finally, how we can help the Siasconset Beach Preservation group as our two missions have many overlaps.

If you have an idea that would help the Trust expand its scope of influence and impact in preserving our village, please let me or members of our board know. Nothing ventured, nothing gained. It may be that our response will be that it does not fall neatly into our mission but we'll always try to assist with a solution. Remember we work closely with island conservation and preservation groups as well as the 'Sconset Civic Association and our local town officials. All members of the Trust past and present owe a debt of gratitude to the years of action and leadership of Perry Ruddick. We will miss him. Here's to a great 2011.

PRESERVATION SPEAKER

Brian Pfeiffer to speak in 'Sconset on July 26th

"Preservation: Why Should Anyone Care?"

Noted architectural historian, Brian Pfeiffer will be our preservation speaker this year. He will speak at the Siasconset Chapel on Tuesday, July 26th at 10:00 a.m. His topic is: "Preservation—Why Should Anyone Care?" A reception with refreshments will follow in the garden of Samantha and Matt Freemont-Smith's home—The Atlantic House on Main Street. Educated at Boston University and The Institute for Advanced Architectural Studies in York, England, Brian Pfeiffer is known for his work in documenting historic buildings throughout New England. Brian's focus is on historic craft techniques and traditional building materials for the repair and conservation of the region's architecturally significant buildings. Working with trained craftsmen, Mr. Pfeiffer has recently completed conservation repairs to two 18th century timber frame homes on Nantucket. He also served as a project manager for the repair of the Unitarian Meeting House on Orange Street. He currently serves as a consultant to the Nantucket Preservation Trust, the 'Sconset Trust, Preservation Massachusetts, Inc. and Harvard University.

Sankaty Head Lighthouse Update

Last year International Chimney Corporation sent their restoration expert to make a post-move inspection of the lighthouse. In November the company sent workers to replace two broken windows and reseal all lantern house windows atop the lighthouse. Other minor repairs and touchups were completed. Overall, the lighthouse was found to have settled well and to be in very good shape three years after its move.

The Open Days at the lighthouse continue to be very popular. Two days of clear skies over Columbus Day weekend gave hundreds of people an excellent view from the top. Most recently, the lighthouse was open as part of Nantucket Preservation Week on May 8th, Mother's Day. Despite cold temperatures, fog and wind, people made their way to the top in a steady stream all day. The Trust gratefully thanks the many volunteers who made the Open Days possible.

The 'Sconset Trust board is concerned about the continuing erosion of the 'Sconset bluff. When moved to its new location, the lighthouse was 58 feet away from the bluff edge. It is known that each winter, storms erode the bluff. The extent of the erosion is being monitored by Epsilon Engineering Company and the board has decided to assist in the financing of this project. As the rate of the erosion is evaluated over time, the board will consider whether appropriate action should be taken to slow the erosion in an effort to keep the lighthouse standing in its present location.

The 'Sconset Trust and the Trustees of the Reservations once again invite you to sign up for one of our van tours to two of Nantucket's three lighthouses. The Trust's partnership with The Trustees of Reservations brought vanloads of visitors to climb both Sankaty Head and Great Point lighthouses throughout last summer and fall. These bi-monthly guided tours include nature observation en route to and from Great Point. Tours last 3 to 3.5 hours and start at the Wauwinet Gatehouse parking lot. They will run again this year on Thursday evenings. Plan to be there 10 minutes before departure times. For more information call (508) 228-6799.

$40 for members of the Trust or Trustees of the Reservations,
$50 for non-members and $15 for children, must be 12 or older

Due to nesting of piping plovers and lease terns on the access routes to Great Point, our July departures are subject to cancellation. Please call the Wauwinet Gatehouse for more information: (508) 228-6799.

Board Member Bios

These board members joined the Trust in 2010

Dee Haslam

Dee Haslam and her husband Jimmy are from Knoxville, Tennessee. They settled on Sankaty Head Road five years ago after celebrating 4th of July in Sconset for several years. With three children and two grandchildren (two more on the way), Nantucket has become their family gathering place. Dee is CEO of Rivr Media, producing programming for networks such as A&E, HGTV, DIY, Animal Planet and WE. Jimmy is CEO of Pilot/Flying J Travel Centers. Dee loves the work of the Trust and is interested in seeing the continued efforts in beach, land and building preservation.

Mark Filipski

Mark Filipski and his wife Lynn have been visiting the island every summer since 1985. Along with their two grown children Russell and Sarah, they consider Sconset “home” and live at 5/7 South Road in the village. They are active members of the Casino and the Sconset Chapel, and enjoy the immense natural beauty and tranquility of Nantucket. Mark and Lynn are active outdoors people; they are passionate about golf, tennis and relaxing at the beach. They appreciate the relaxed pace of life here versus the kinetic pace in the New York metropolitan area where they live off season. Mark is an investment banker with Credit-Suisse, sits on the board of Davidson College in North Carolina, and joined the 'Sconset Trust board last year.

Kennedy Richardson

Kennedy and his wife Susan have been summer residents in 'Sconset every summer since 1978. They bought their home on Low Beach Road in 1997. Kennedy is involved in other preservation and conservation groups outside of 'Sconset, most notably as a trustee of Historic New England, and of the National Trust of Scotland (USA Foundation). He and his family have been involved in various conservation and preservation efforts in Southern Maine since the late 1800's. Professionally, Kennedy is semi-retired, having spent 23 years running an institutional equity fund at Fidelity from 1985 through 2008. He attended Belmont Hill School, has a BA from Williams College, and a MBA from Harvard University.

Jim Walker

Jim and his wife Deborah are from Bedford, NY. They have been coming to 'Sconset for over 20 years and have three children. Jim first came to the Island in college and has been returning every summer since then. Jim is a partner at Fir Tree Partners, an investment management firm located in NYC. As an active member of the community, Jim is looking forward to making a contribution to the preservation and conservation efforts of the Trust.

IN MEMORIAM: Perry Ruddick

Perry was, for many years, a leader at the 'Sconset Trust as its board president (1988–1990) and long term board member. He was responsible for masterminding many of our land transactions over our 27 year history. Perry was also a board member of the Nantucket Conservation Foundation. His leadership contributions to the field of land conservation are one of his many gifts to the island. Of course, along with Susan, Perry served as Co-Chair of the successful Sankaty Head Lighthouse Campaign.

Daffodil Program

SANKATY HEAD LIGHTHOUSE

Daffodil Planting Program

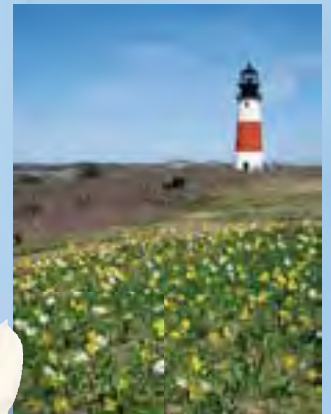

In April, one thousand daffodils bloomed in a drift along the southwest section of the Sankaty Head Lighthouse site. Many of these bulbs were planted "in memory of" or "in honor of" loved ones by generous donors to the Trust. Each donor received a framed pen and ink sketch of this scene personalized with the specifics of the memorial in calligraphy.

If you would like to participate in this memorial planting, please call the Trust office. Donations can be made in the amount listed in the box at right.

A small cluster of a new type of daffodil, officially named Sankaty Light, was planted to the right of the path as you enter the site. These bulbs, while not as pinkish red in the center as expected, bloomed in April at the site of their namesake as well.

Donations to the Trust can be made in the following amounts:

50 bulbs	$100
100 bulbs	$200
150 bulbs	$300
200 bulbs	$400
250 bulbs	$500
500 bulbs	$1000
